AB update

July 2023 highlights

In the field and around the network

✓ Congo-Brazzaville completed its first AB survey, bringing Round 9 data collection to a successful close with 39 countries.
✓ AB extended its partnerships by signing new memoranda of understanding with the Institute for Security Studies (photo at right) and the European Centre for Development Policy Management.
✓ Luminate awarded AB a two-year, $400,000 grant.
✓ AB conducted a geospatial information system workshop for senior staff.
✓ The Institute for Development Studies, University of Nairobi, won a competitive bidding process to continue as AB’s core partner for East Africa.

In the news

A total of 785 media hits were recorded in July across various media outlets, including the Economist, Washington Post, News24, NZZ, Hespress, Ghanaweb, Daily Maverick, South African, IOL, Daily Mail, Guardian, Livemint, Irish Times, Head Topics, BusinessTech, Mediapart, Bloomberg, Financial Times, Investing.com, ...

On digital/social media

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Website</th>
<th>16,648 users; 4,894 downloads</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Online data analysis</td>
<td>2,640 user sessions</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Twitter</td>
<td>31,458 followers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Facebook</td>
<td>16,554 fans</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Visibility

✓ In partnership with Amani Africa, AB introduced its data and analysis to a technical expert group of the African Union.
✓ In collaboration with Uganda’s Office of the Prime Minister, AB national partner Hatchile Consult presented its analysis of “Service delivery challenges and opportunities in Uganda's new cities" to representatives of 13 line ministries, departments, and agencies in preparation for dissemination engagements with the respective new city administrations.

Presentations:

✓ On the state of African democracy, at the Africa Drive for Democracy Conference Elders Retreat, hosted by the Center for Strategic Litigation, the Institute for Security Studies, and the MS Training Centre for Development Cooperation
✓ On Afrobarometer as a resource for effective Africanist research and policy making, for the International Foundation for Election Systems and at the Legon Center for International Affairs and Diplomacy, University of Ghana
✓ On South Africans’ views on the country’s electricity crisis, hosted by the Department of Political and International Studies at Rhodes University
On one-party dominance and opposition-party failure in South Africa’s 2019 election, hosted by the Centre for Social Science Research

Chart of the month
Should the government prioritise jobs or the environment? | Botswana | 2022

Respondents were asked: Which of the following statements is closest to your view?

The government should focus on creating jobs and increasing incomes, even if that means increasing pollution or other environmental damage.

The government should focus more on preventing pollution and protecting the environment, even if this means there will be fewer jobs or there will be other disruptions to our daily lives.

Publications

- Dispatch 678: Kenyans want government to prioritise environmental protection, even at the expense of job creation
- Dispatch 677: Zambians look to one another and government for action to safeguard the environment
- Dispatch 676: Tanzanians want greater government action on environmental problems, even if it’s expensive
- Dispatch 675: Inquiets de leur dette envers la Chine, beaucoup de Togolais sont prêts à payer plus d’impôts pour contribuer au développement
- Dispatch 674: Les Burkinabè sont fortement attachés à leur identité nationale
- Dispatch 673: Vast majority of Tunisians say pollution is a major problem, want government to do more to fight it
- Dispatch 672: Liberians prioritise environmental protection over job creation
- Dispatch 671: Economic conditions worsen in Eswatini; citizens cite poor government performance
- Dispatch 670: Os Cabo-verdianos veem a violência baseada no género como a questão mais importante dos direitos das mulheres
- Dispatch 669: Batswana say citizens and government must act to protect the environment
- Dispatch 668: Zambians laud government crime-fighting efforts but cite police for lack of professionalism
- Dispatch 667: Zambians say vulnerable children lack needed help in the community
- Dispatch 666: Au Mali, la fourniture de service d’eau et d’assainissement reste un défi
- Dispatch 665: Amid increased insecurity, Gambians cite corruption and lack of professionalism among police shortcomings
- Dispatch 664: Lack of access, connection to the electric grid still plagues most rural residents in Angola
- Dispatch 663: Gender equality in the Gambia: Citizens demand greater government efforts
- Dispatch 662: En pleine crise sécuritaire, les Burkinabè font également face à des défis économiques

Support for Afrobarometer

Afrobarometer is grateful for financial support from Sweden via the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency, the U.S. Agency for International Development (USAID) via the U.S. Institute of Peace, the Mo Ibrahim Foundation, the Open Society Foundations - Africa, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, the European Union, the National Endowment for Democracy, the Mastercard Foundation, the Japan International Cooperation Agency, the Konrad Adenauer Foundation, the University of California San Diego, the Global Centre for Pluralism, the World Bank Group, Freedom House, the Embassy of the Kingdom of the Netherlands in Uganda, GIZ, and Humanity United.